

Reading Log

The one-line column is the one that matters. Minutes are easy to record and say very little.

[illegible]

Comprehension Prompts

Works with any book. Deliberately generic — prompts tied to one text get used once.

Who is this mainly about, and what do they want?

What changed between the start and where you stopped?

Read one sentence out loud that you liked. Why that one?

What do you think happens next, and what makes you think it?

A word you were not sure of

Vocabulary Cards

Cut along the lines. Words met in real reading stick; words from a list generally do not.
